

Electronics Assembly Operators

Castleton – Hope Valley

The roles

We have exciting opportunities for the right people to join our busy manufacturing team in Castleton. The successful candidates will be required to assemble our high-quality electronic products and help us strive towards the goal as a world class manufacturing company.

You will be required to assemble very small electronics parts in large volumes and therefore attention to detail and dexterity is required.

Experience is not essential as full training will be given but someone who has worked in a similar environment where you are assembling parts to specific time and quality standards would be useful.

These positions are full time and permanent and we are looking for motivated people to join our production team. Part time hours are also available.

What's on offer?

Great hourly rate

Bonus

Working hours 36.5hr, early finish on Fridays (or part time hours to suit)

33 days holiday

Good working environment and a fun team of people to work with.
